第第作笈 (第作)	The term "第第作笈" is not a standard phrase or expression in modern Chinese. The characters individually can be translated as follows: 第 (zì): A classical Chinese term that means "ordinal number" or "number in a sequence," typically indicating the second or third. 第 (dì): A character often used to indicate an ordinal number or position in a sequence. 作 (zuò): Can mean "to make," "to create," or "to do" depending on the context. 笈 (jí): An archaic term for a bamboo or wooden box used to store books or documents in ancient times. Given the context of these characters, it appears to describe a position or action related to creating or making something, possibly within a sequence or order. The term "第作" can be translated as "the second work" or "second creation" in English, depending on the context. "第" (dì) generally signifies ordinal numbers, and "作" (zuò) translates to "work" or "creation." So, in this context, "第作" implies the second piece of work or creation.	0x347BC40503E0CE23fE0F5587F232Cd2D07D4Eb89	132.00	No		scan.pulsechain.com/token/0x347BC40503E0CE23fE0F5587F232Cd2D07D4Eb89	May-31-2023	https://scan.pulsechain.com/tx/0xb7daef6459ad460f4dadbb5242fb3ed06743049adc2e34350895fa29d0cf80af
